

This document certifies that

Aishwarya Chakrapani

has successfully achieved the

Uplimit SQL Crash Course certification

Recipients of Uplimit's SQL Crash Course certificates have learned the foundations of SQL and have mastered the SQL basics including filtering and sorting data, aggregations, and complex filtering logic including GROUP BY and HAVING clauses. They are ready to tackle basic questions in SQL including and are prepared to thrive in analyzing data using SQL.

Certification criteria:

- Actively participated in Uplimit's dynamic SQL Crash Course: attended lectures, project sessions, community talks with industry leaders, and more.
- Used SQL to analyze pricing of Airbnb listings in Sydney, Australia and investigated unverified listings on the platform used it to complete an analysis about the state of the business.
- Developed familiarity with the foundations of SQL including filtering and sorting data from tables, rows, schema and other data types, aggregations, complex filtering logic and built-in data/strong predicates, and implementing the GROUP BY and HAVING clause.

June 27, 2023

Instructor: Eva Jaumann

issued by

